

21st Century Soccer Recruiting—the Internet

Listed below are web sites that will supply you with information that can help you with the college recruitment process. New sites are springing up daily. Be sure to check the links at these web sites for other related sites.

soccerinfo.com                      Exceptional Information

Check out the section on the NSCAA National for constant updates of college scores and a direct link into college athletic websites. Explore the summer soccer camp options.

espn.com

Click on the section that says college sports. Once in that section, click on the soccer areas for current articles and scores in men and women's soccer.

naia.org

This is the official web site of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. Information is available on schools with soccer programs that are affiliated with the NAIA.

ncaa.org

This is the official web site of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Information is available on schools with soccer programs that are affiliated with the NCAA. Check out the NCAA Eligibility Rules, NCAA Clearinghouse, NCAA Soccer Championships, etc.

njcaa.org

This is the official web site of the National Junior College Athletic Association. Information is available on schools with soccer programs that are affiliated with the NJCAA.

nscaa.com

This is the web site of the National Soccer Coaches Association of America. It services all different coaching levels. Check out the News page. Although many of the articles will not apply to the student-athlete, the site has very thoughtful articles about different aspects of the college soccer scene. Also, the NSCAA soccer rankings of all the college associations and the conference rankings are updated regularly during the season and are very helpful. It also includes information on soccer programs at junior colleges.

socceramerica.com

Soccer America is often referred to as America's No. 1 soccer news weekly. This is the web site of that highly respected publication. One click on the College module will bring up a variety of articles on men's and women's college soccer. The coverage is especially good during the fall college season.

soccerbuzz.com                      Top Women's Soccer Source

Soccer Buzz is a free magazine on the Internet devoted to women's collegiate soccer at the NCAA Division 1 level. It provides information on teams, players, games and coaches for over 260 universities and colleges across the US. Game results are provided by NCAA member institutions and posted as they are available.